

Sub
B6
A2

14. (New) A sign in accordance with Claim 1, wherein the interconnect tab has a first electrode lead and a second electrode lead disposed on the male end, and the connector has two or more electrical contacts configured to align with, and contact, the first and second electrode leads.

15. (New) A sign in accordance with Claim 2, wherein said interconnect tab has one or more locking holes spaced from the male end for receiving the locking pin.

16. (New) A sign in accordance with Claim 3, wherein said interconnect tab has a key slot on the male end for receiving the key pin.